quite beyond his power of overruling. Leg byes were then suggested.—See Law 13.

46. The players who go in second shall follow their innings, if they have obtained eighty runs less than their antagonists, except in all matches limited to only one day's play, when the number shall be limited to sixty instead of eighty.

Many objections have been taken to this rule on the ground of unfairness. The great object in view is a saving of time, and to this minor matters must bow. It is a generally adopted rule in one-day matches to decide by the first innings, if the match is not played out.—(See note at foot of Law 47.)

47. When one of the strikers shall have been put out, the use of the bat shall not be allowed to any person until the next striker shall come in.

No law is treated with less respect than this, and yet on its proper observance depends one of the fundamental principles of the game. This is somewhat marvellous. The frequent practice of snatching the bat from the hand of a "not out"
